Japanese Treaty.

The following are the principal regulations in the new treaty between Japan and the United States, which was signed on the 23d of May, 1860 :

CONSULAR AGENTS. The first article provides that "the President of the United States may appoint a diplomatic agent to reside at the cito of Yeddo, and consuls or consular agents, to reside at any or all of the ports in Japan, which are opened for American commerce by this treaty. The diplomatic agent and consul-general of the United States shall have the right to travel freely in any part of the Empire of Japan from the time they enter on the discharge of their official duties." This is a very important concession, the privileges guaranteed being, we believe, enjoyed by no other AMERICAN NEDIATION. Article second provides "that the President of the United States, at the request of the Japanese Government, shall act as a friendly mediator in such matters of difference as may arise between the Government of Japan and any European Power."

ADDITIONAL PORTS OPENED. In addition to the ports of Simoda and Hakodadi, the following ports and towns shall be opened on the dates respectively appended to them, that is to say, Kanagawa, on 4th of July, 1859; Nagasaki, on the 4th of July, 1859; Nee-e-gata, on the 1st of January, 1860 : Hiogo, on the 1st of January, 1863.

If Nec-e-gata is found to be unsuitable as a harbor, another port on the west coast of Nipon shall be selected by the two Governments in lieu thereof. Six months after the opening of Kanagawa the port of Simoda shall be closed as a place of residence and trade for American citizens. In all the foregoing ports and towns American citizens may permanently reside; they shall have the right to lease ground and purchase the buildings thereon, and may erect dwellings and warehouses. From the 1st of January 1862, Americans shall be allowed to reside in the city of Yeddo; and from the 1st of January, 1863, in the city of Osaca, for the purpose of trade only. in each of these two cities a suitable place within which they may hire houses, and the Estance they may go shall be arranged by the American diplomatic agent and the Government of Japan. Americans may freely buy from Japanese, and sell to them any articles that either they have for sale, without the intervention of any Japanese officers in such purchase or sale, or in making or receiving payment for the same; and all classes of Japanese may purchase, sell, keep, or use any articles seld to them by the Americans. Munitions of war shall only be sold to the Japanese Government and foreigners.

No rice or wheat shall be exported from Japan as cargo, but all Americans resident in Japan, and ps for their crews and passengers, shall be furnished with sufficient supplies of the same. The Commission Merchants-Fire-Proof Buildings, Queen street. Japanese Government will sell, from time to time, at public auction, any surplus quantity of copper that may be produced. Americans residing in Japan shall have the right to employ Japanese as servants or in any other capacity.

OPIUM INTERDICTED. The importation of opium is prohibited, and any American vessel coming to Japan for the purpose of trade, having more than three (3) catties (four pounds averdupois) weight of opium on board, such surplus quantity shall be seized and destroyed by the Japanese authorities.

FOREIGN COIN.

All foreign coin shall be current in Japan and pass for its corresponding weight of Japanese coin of the same description. Americans and Japanese may freely use foreign or Japanese coin making in payments to each other.

As some time will elapse before the Japanese will be acquainted with the value of foreign coin, the Japanese Government will, for the period of one year after the opening of each harbor, furnish the Americans with Japanese coin in exchange for their equal weight being given, and no discount taken for re-coinage. Coins of all descriptions (with the exception of Japanese copper coin) may be exported from Japan, and foreign gold and silver uncoined. PUNISHMENT FOR OFFENSES, ETC.

Americans committing offenses against the Japanese shall be tried in American consular courts, and when guilty shall be punished according to American law. Japanese committing offenses against Americans shall be tried by the Japanese authorities, and punished according to Japanese law. The consular courts shall be open to Japanese creditors, to enable them to recover their just claims against American citizens, and the Japanese courts shall, in like manner, be open to American citizens for the recovery of their just claims against Japanese.

LIMITS OF TRAVEL. In the open harbors of Japan, Americans shall be free to go where they please, within the following At Kanagawa, the River Logo (which empties into the bay of Yeddo between Kawasaki and Sinagawa) and (10) ten ri in any other direction. At Hakodadi (10) ten ri in any direction. At Hiogo (10) cen ri in any direction, that of Kioto excepted, which shall not be approached nearer than (10) ten ri. The crews of vessels resorting to Hiogo shall not cross the river Enagawa, which empties into the bay between Hiogo and Osaca. The distances shall be measured inland from Goyoso, or town hall, of each of the foregoing harbors, the ri being equal to (4275) four thousand two hundred and seventy-five yards, American measure. At Nagasaki, Americans may go into any part of the imperial domain in its vicinity. The boundaries of Nee-e-guta, or the place that may be substituted for it, shall be settled by the American diplomatic agent and the Government of Japan.

RELIGIOUS LIBERTY. Americans in Japan shall be allowed free exercise of their religion, and for this purpose shall have the right to erect suitable places of worship. No injury shall be done to such buildings, nor any insult be offered to the religious worship of the Americans. American citizens shall not injure any Japanese temple or min, or offer any insult or injuries to Japanese religious ceremonies, or to the objects of their worship. The Americans and Japanese shall not do any thing that may be calculated to excite religious animosity. The Government of Japan has already abolished the practice of trampling on religious
